BOARD OF VISITORS

During the past year the Board of Visitors has worked continuously toward the betterment of the College in Williamsburg and its two extensions in Richmond and Norfolk. Outstanding accomplishments on our campus have been establishing the new Chair of Taxation, moving the Marshall-Wythe School of Law Library and classrooms to Bryan Hall, opening the front dormitory section of Bryan Hall for men students, and appropriating State funds for the building of a new Phi Beta Kappa Hall. In Richmond the Board has made a new academic building available to the students, while in Norfolk it has seen the completion of a new science building and has requested the authorization of State funds for a new cafeteria and bookstore.

The Board of Visitors, governing body of the College, is made up of ten members and an ex-officio member, the Superintendent of Instruction. The members are appointed by the Governor of Virginia and the appointments are approved by the General Assembly. No less than six members are alumni of the College. Each appointee holds office for a four-year term with five members being selected every two years.

The group elects a chairman or rector who presides over the six regular meetings each year and any special sessions which are necessary. In 1954-55 James M. Robertson was elected rector with Dr. H. Hudnall Ware, Jr., as vice-rector and Roy R. Charles as secretary. Other Board members were R. William Arthur, John V. Bauserman, J. D. Carneal, Jr., Mrs. Philip W. Hiden, Dr. Dowell J. Howard, J. Garland Pollard, Jr., Walter S. Robertson, and Edward P. Simpkins, Jr.

Throughout the past year President Alvin Duke Chandler, the Twenty-second President of the College of William and Mary, proved himself an able administrator and brought honor to the College. In December of 1954, President Chandler was awarded the Star of Solidarity, the highest honor that can be conferred on an American by the Italian Government. He participated in the Marshall-Wythe Blackstone exercises and represented the College at gatherings of local, state, and national importance. Through his continued efforts, President Chandler has achieved a more unified whole of student-Faculty cooperation which will progress on to preserve and invigorate the traditions of the College of William and Mary in Virginia.

RON DRAKE

President of Student Body

THE STUDENT

The record of Student Government during the past year has shown progress toward the goal of student coorperation and unity. A feeling of unity unknown at the college for the last three years made itself apparent in early January as the student body voiced its desire for more representation through Ron Drake, its president. Ron's efficiency, patience, and his very able leadership will long be remembered by the students of the college who placed their confidence in him.

At the annual Honors Convocation held in the fall, Ron stressed the importance of Student Government as it exists not only for the representation of the student body in the college community, but also as a body by which students are able to aid themselves and the college, Following this principle the Student Government worked during the year to make students aware that it was functioning by placing bi-weekly reports of Student Government activities in the Flat Hat.

At the beginning of the school year the Student Government undertook a campaign to collect money to be used toward the proposed Student Union Building. During fall registration, members of Student Government collected money from the student body to be placed in the Student Union Fund. The campaign was furthered by the successful and unique Powder Puff Bowl, composed of various women students who vied for the pigskin on Carv Field, All proceeds went to the Student Union Fund.

The orientation program for incoming students was organized by the student government on the basis of favorable reports concerning the program of the previous year which they had also planned.

During the year, plans were slowly developed in the Student Assembly for the establishment of a Judicial Council for men students. The purpose of this move was to put into the hands of the students, disciplinary authority for minor infractions which are at present handled by the Disciplinary Committee.

In January, the students united in orderly discussion to consider a new administrative social rule. The discussions gave vent to a growing feeling of disatisfaction in the student body concerning administrative practices. Student Government channeled the accumulated grievances to the administration and presented a comprehensive report to the Board of Visitors.

OTTO LOWE Chairman of Men's Honor Council

The first honor system was founded at William and Mary in 1779. The Men's Honor Council was established at the College to try cases involving infractions of the Honor Code which are lying, stealing, cheating, and the failure to report any breach of the Code.

Although the Honor Code works as a system of government in the classroom, its sole purpose is not enforcement. It also acts as an educational aid in stressing the qualities of honor in order to round out the student's moral development.

As part of its educational program, the Honor Council holds sessions in explaining the Code to incoming freshmen each fall during the orientation period. In addition, it passes out to all students an explanation of trial procedure and the rights of the accused, thereby acquainting the students with the limitations of the Council.

The Honor Council has other duties such as watching the polls at elections, counting the ballots, and posting the results in the dormitories.

During the past year, the members of the Men's Honor Council were Otto Low, chairman: John Marsh, vice-chairman: James Abdella, secretary: Scott Stone, senior member: Richard Blanchard and James McInnes, junior members: and Paul High, sophomore member.

WOMEN'S HONOR COUNCIL

On the belief that every student, upon reaching college age possesses honesty and integrity, the students of the College of William and Mary founded the first Honor System in 1779. Since this date, many other colleges and universities have adopted similar systems. The system has played an integral role in college life.

The Women's Honor Council, a branch of the Women's Student Cooperative Government Association, investgiates alleged infractions of the Honor Code, holds trials when warranted, and recommends penalties for violations committed by the women students of the College of William and Mary.

The council works in cooperation with the Men's Honor Council on matters concerning both men and women students including orienting new students, standardizing rules of procedure and definition of terms, and sitting at the polls and counting ballots of student government elections. Before the semester examinations, the members give informal talks in the women's dormitories, reminding the students of their responsibility to the Honor Code and of the importance of keeping their pledge.

Members for 1954–55 were: Barbara C. Brown, chairman: Mary Lou Riggan, vice-chairman: Victoria Stone, Secretary; Helen Male, senior representative: Margot Ketcham and Carolyn Suber, junior representatives: and Zona Mae Fairbanks, sophomore representative.

WOMEN STUDENTS' COOPERATIVE GOVERNMENT ASSOCIATION

The W.S.C.G.A. is one of the best known organizations on the William and Mary Campus. Divided into three parts, the Women's Honor Council, the Executive Council, and the Judicial Committee, this organization works toward the goal of promoting self-government, responsibility and the best interests of the women students.

The job of the Judicial Committee is to formulate and maintain the social rules of the women students. The Committee consists of a chairman, secretary, representative from each class, representative-at-large, and all of the presidents of the women's dormitories. The house committee of all the dorms are also part of this group. In the fall the committee entertained the Housemothers at a tea.

This Council consists of a President, Vice-President, Secretary, Treasurer, Senior and Freshman member, and a Representative-at-Large. At the meetings held in Blow Gymnasium due to the absence of an auditorium on campus, social rules, projects, and campus announcements are presented. In addition to its other duties, the Executive Council also carries on several other projects such as; informal meetings for new students, during orientation week, and a scholarship of $100 to a sophomore woman. This year the Council introduced a system of cuts into the program.

STUDENT PUBLICATIONS

SEATED: Taylor, Mr. Anderson, Kimbrough, Dr. Kalfos, Standing: Drake, Todhunter, Pontius.

The students of William and Mary find their voice in the three campus publications, the COLONIAL ECHO. the Flat Hat, and the Royalist. Thus, it is important that these publications have competent leaders who are aware of the currents and undertones of student life.

It is the purpose of the Publications Committee to appoint such competent people as Editors and Business Managers of the publications. The 1951-55 committee, that carried this responsibility of appointments had for its members, Colonial Echo Editor, Mardie Pontius: Flat Hat Editor, Jim Todhunter: Royalist Editor, Jane Taylor: Mr. Charles Anderson: Mr. Alexander Kallos; and Chairman. Cynthia Kimbrough, elected to the position by the Student Assembly.

In December the Publications Committee reviewed the qualifications and grades of the candidates for Flat Hat positions. These candidates were suggested to the committee by the present staff of the Flat Hat. After a personal interview with these candidates, the committee selected the Editor and Business Manager, A little later, in the spring, the same procedure was followed in filling the positions of the Colomal Echo and Royalist. The candidates, suggested by the staffs were considered and the best qualified were elected to positions on these two publications, Candidates for Editorship and Business Manager of any publication should have at least a 1.1 average to qualify academically.

The Publications Committee also set up a general and consistent standard of excellence to be maintained by all publications. However, the committee recognized the rights and opinions of the Editors, Individual policy was then left up to them and to their staffs.

The policy of the Publications Committee was reformulated in 1953-51. The committee this year has continued work on policy, trying to define it more clearly. The committee also discussed and tried to formulate standards concerning material suitable for publication. Also considered by the committee was the type of penalty that should be imposed for violations of these standards.

Members of this committee have been interested in maintaining a good relationship between the Administration and the staffs of the publications. Much of the work has been done with an eye to keeping a good relationship. The committee realized this as one of the important links between the students and the Administration.

PUBLICATIONS COMMITTEE

This year the Flat Hat staff kept its eye on winning its fifth out of six first-place awards in the Virginia Intercollegiate Press Association contest held each year, and although the results are not final for 1954-55, the paper succeeded in maintaining its high standards of perfection.

Under the capable leadership of Editor-in-Chief Jim Todhunter. Managing Editor Alice Knight, and Associate Editor Jeanie Andrews, the publication received wide acclaim. The keynote of the editorial policy, both in management and readership was "efficiency" and "education." In Jim's editorials and in the weekly columns a particular emphasis was placed on education in every phase, leadership, lectures, the arts, and, of course, classes. In publishing the paper, too, Jim's extraordinary organizational powers found an outlet which resulted in an efficient, well-run publication. And this is as it should be, for then the Flat Hat truly reflected the spirit of a College newspaper.

News Editor Will Molineaux, who found more news sources than anyone on campus, and his staff saw to it that campus events had the best coverage possible. Jo Hyde's clever articles gave readers the news behind the news, and the inimitable Dick Rowlett amused us all with his sensational sports stories.

Cynthia Kimbrough and her staff turned out headlines quickly and capably. Bay Campbell kept the books in order and always saw that the paper was running "in the black."

Lee Everitt handled national and local advertising with equal ease, while Diek Raybold and his staff saw that we had our papers early on Tuesday and that copies were faithfully sent to parents, friends, and alumni each week,

The combined staffs tried to improve both the quality and composition of the paper and to capture student interest. Among the new features was the removal of the editorial page to page four in order to give better news coverage and to model the paper after the city dailies.

The Student Voice once again became articulate and students felt free to air grievances. Well-written and well-organized letters were less infrequent and it was hoped that perhaps that old plague "apathy" had banished forever.

THE FLAT HAT

"A. Knight With Andrews" and "Entre Nous" were two sparkling columns, written on alternate weeks, which interpreted the news and were sometimes instrumental in achieving improvements on campus.

With all serious work there is a lighter side. This year's staff will probably never forget the good-natured battle between two top journalists. Will and Jack White: the all-out war the sports staff declared on the rest of the staff members; Will's Sunday afternoon symphony: Dick for many reasons: the crusade for pencil sharpeners: the Sunday night "parties": the increasing respect for the "boys in the back room" at the Gazette; Jim pouring over a dictionary; Cynthia insisting on perfect headlines without copy or an idea of what the story was; the day the sports staff moved to the Royalist office; Jeanie and Alice chuckling mysteriously over something that couldn't be printed, and the general wonderful confusion on Sundays, which all combined to make this year an unforget-table experience.

COLONIAL ECHO

Marie Comley, Business Manager; Mardie Pontius, Editor-in-Chiel; Bill White, Associate Editor.

Perhaps it is illogical to begin with the closing phrase in this book, "All This Is William and Mary." but it best symbolizes the thought that the staff has attempted to capture between the covers of the 1955 COLONIAL ECHO. The introduction is designed to depict every phase of college life this year. It is only fitting that the Marshall-Wythe-Blackstone ceremonies be commemorated in this manner, as well as the parties, athletics and rushing activities that will be remembered. The style employed throughout the book lends a touch of the modern to these pages, and unifies the sections instead of an outlying theme. It is, however, the traditional atmosphere of William and Mary that makes it so unique: twentieth century minds being guided through the study of the past to understand better the future. Where better could this be accomplished than in the surroundings of colonial Williamsburg. and where better could this idea be portrayed than in a book which contains William and Mary's history for the year 1954-55? Thus, the modern layout, but upon careful observation, the traditions of our college can be easily recognized.

As in most endeavors such as this, there are always people who have shown particular interest. The staff feels indebted to Dean J. W. Lambert, Mr. Wayne F. Gibbs, Mr. Roger Dudley, John Westberg and George Haycox, mentioning only a few. To the students who waited patiently in the lobby of Old Dominion, or who were juggled about by an organizations photographer, we issue a special thanks. We also appreciate those words of encouragement over the office partition from the members of the Flat Hat staff.

The duties of each staff position are varied, but one universal thing applies to each editor. Every member exhibited the best of his or her ability to produce the Echo. Where experience was not possible, hard work made up the difference, Irreplaceable was Bill White. Associate Editor, whose knowledge of photography and ability to co-ordinate the functions of the editors were most valuable, Marie Comley, Business Manager, should be congratulated particularly for the large student representation in the class sections. The features and organizations sections were ably planned and executed by Barbara Diggs and Lois Vill respectively: two very competent editors. The new layout in the fraternity section was well carried out by Tom Burke: and Fritz Wilson, Sports Editor, did a good job of recapturing a year of athletics. The cover design and feature section, as well as the many posters seen periodically about campus, show the touches of Allison Sandlass, Art Editor. Elaine Pratt, Class Editor, is an example of one who came to the staff with little experience, but with a store of vitality and diligence ever-apparent. Needless to say, a publication must have an excellent copy editor, and such was Don Glover. Photography is a most unportant feature, and it would be hard to improve on a combination of Joe Bell, Editor, assisted by Dick Raybold and Larry Young.

The general student notices evidence of work being done on the Echo occasionally throughout the year, such as the beauty contest, proofs from Colonna Studios and an organizations picture. The editors, however, have been occupied since September, attempting to highlight main events of the college year. The visits of the Queen Mother, Drew Pearson and Harricane Hazel are pictured within these pages, as well as chief sports events, the Homecoming court and fraternity dances. But those are incidents of which most students are aware and will remember without pictures and copy to remind them. It's the every-day occurrences, places, and people which are taken for granted and are then forgotten that the staff has tried to depict. The ivy-covered lamp posts, the priorities plaque in the Wren Building, the steps of the Methodist church, the waiters at Chownings and those of the cafe: these are the things to be remembered. The staff sincerely hopes that between the covers of the 1955 Colonial Echo. every student will discover at least a few of his favorite friends, events, and scenes. That has been the aim of the eleven editors.

THE ROYALIST

THE ART STAFF

One area of creativity which has become an integral part of the College curriculum is the Royalist, William and Mary's literary magazine. Here students with a flair for writing can find an otulet for their talents and, in addition, have their work constructively criticized by members of the student body. Contributions this year were gratifying, and it was hoped that the students had lost that shyness so often connected with amateur writing.

During the year Editor Jane Taylor, Associate Editor Cynthia Frye, and the combined staffs worked diligently to produce two fine issues. With the increase of material the critical staff maintained its high standards in selecting material with the final choice left to the discretion of the editorial board in some cases.

The art staff under the direction of Lois Mortashed experimented with illustrations to improve the quality of the magazine.

This year brought many changes both in policy and work produced. Jane's management policy for the year saw attendance at meetings more stringently enforced, reading done on a more individual basis to insure anonymous criticism, and copies of rejected material returned with objective criticism listing the work's flaws,

Within the area of the Royalist itself, readers noted that a photograph replaced the usual illustrated cover and that artwork had often been interwoven among selections of poetry. Another new feature was the introduction of a faculty contribution of prose, which added new interest.

As a whole, 1954-55 was a good one for the Royalist staffs as they turned out two superior magazines of which the College can be proud.

PHI BETA KAPPA The College of William and Mary is proud to boast that the first chapter of Phi Beta Kappa was founded on this campus on December 5th. 1776. Since this time, Phi Beta Kappa has risen to become the foremost among all existing honor societies. The members-in-course were elected from among the outstanding scholars on the William and Mary campus at the Honors Convocation in November and again in the spring.

On December 6th, 1954, Alpha Chapter held their annual initiation ceremonies in the Appollo Room of the Phi Beta Kappa Memorial Building. The initiation was followed immediately by a formal banquet at the Williamsburg Inn. On the evening of the 6th, an Anniversary Meeting was held in Blow Gymnasium to commemorate the one hundred and seventy-eighth year of Phi Beta Kappa and to welcome the newly initiated members. Mr. Drew Pearson, noted nationally syndicated news columnist gave an address titled, "Modern Day Sabateurs of 1776." Phi Beta Kappa poet for the occasion was Dr. William Carlos Williams of Rutherford, New Jersey, who made a reading of several selections from his recent works. He challenged the audience to come to a realization of form in poetry. Dr. Thomas Granville Pullen, President of Alpha Chapter presided over the exercises. Dr. James W. Miller welcomed the newely initiated members and Mr. Harry Wilkins, Alumnus Initiate, and Donald Glover, initiate-in-course gave the response for the initiates.

Since the destruction of the main portion of Phi Beta Kappa Memorial Building last December, the National Offices have moved to a private residence in Williamsburg, and there are plans for it to move to Washington, D.C. A fund drive was begun and very successfully completed for a new building.

A group of students chosen by virtue of their positions as leaders who serve as another link between the student body and the administration, is known as the President's Aides. The members of this group are appointed by President and Mrs. Chandler and act as their personal aides in various college functions throughout the school year.

Each year, among the Aides are found the Presidents of the junior and senior Classes, the Chairmen of the Men's and Women's Honor Councils, the President of the Executive Council and Chairman of the Judicial Committee of the Women's Student Cooperative Government Association, the Presidents of Omicron Delta Kappa and Mortar Board, the Editor of the Flat Hat, two members-at-large, one man and one woman, and the President of the Student Body, who serves as Chief Aide. This year the members-at-large were the Editor of the Colonial Echo and the Vice-President of the Student Body.

The position of President's Aide is an honorary one and at each convocation the entire group marches behind the President of the College wearing the College colors and the Presidential Scal. The Chief Aide, Ron Drake, also carries the College Mace in the procession.

Although the group of President's Aides does not function in the eapacity of an organized club, the members fulfill various duties and participate in certain activities as a body throughout the year. In addition to serving as an advisory committee for the President, this year the President's Aides acted as escorts for the official party in the Marshall-Wythe Blackstone Celebration in September and helped in the entertainment of other dignitaries and friends and guests of the college.

Omicron Delta Kappa, the National Leadership Honor Society for men, was founded at Washington and Lee University on December 3, 1914 and has established circles in leading American colleges and universities. The society acknowledges achievement and efficiency in college activities bringing together men from all phases of college life for worthwhile endeavor. Members were elected on the basis of participation in two, and outstanding accomplishment in one of these fields—scholarship, athletics, social and religious affairs, publications, and speech, music, and the dramatic arts.

Members of the faculty, as well as students, may be tapped by the society. The uniting of faculty and student interests and understanding is one of its most important functions.

Each year Omicron Delta Kappa has several worthwhile projects which benefit the entire campus. Each semester the members donated twenty-five dollars to the College Library to be used for the purpose of purchasing American History books. Last year they sponsored the first leadership forum which was attended by the officers of all campus organizations. This forum was a success and of much benefit to all who attended. President Marsh announced that it was to be given again this year and was to have many improvements. The highlight of the year's program is the Omicron Delta Kappa-Faculty basketball game.

Prospective members are generally tapped in a formal spring convocation. This year for the first time, juniors were tapped at the Fall Convocation. This innovation will probably be continued in the future.

Mortar Board has traditionally recognized senior women for outstanding work in leadership on their college campuses. This national society has an active chapter at William and Mary—the Virginia Gamma chapter. The group is composed of girls who have proven themselves outstanding in various extracurricular activities.

In 1954-55, led by President Virginia Broaddus, Mortar Board followed their three purposes of leadership, scholarship, and service in their activities. In its efforts to train future leaders. Mortar Board conducted a sponsor training program in the spring. Here sophomores were trained to work in the freshman orientation program. As a service to the college, Mortar Board provided subscriptions of "Time" and "Life" to the women's dormitories. They provided refreshments at the William and Mary Theatre plays, they sponsored a tutoring service, and they were the cheerleaders at the annual ODK-Faculty Campus Chest benefit game. To encourage scholarship, Mortar Board held a "smarty party" for the freshmen women with the highest grades at the end of the first semester. A scholarship fund was maintained and enlarged. In addition, an award was made to the sophomore woman with the highest cumulative grade average.

Mortar Board also held a party for the alumnae in order to foster better relations between the undergraduate and graduate members of the society.

To carry out these activities, the organization had to have certain money raising projects. Among these were a sale of used furniture at the beginning of the year, a trip to Richmond to see a concert at the Mosque and a sale of ice cream at the Colonial Festival in the spring.

In the spring, Mortar Board selected junior women who could fulfill the requirements of leadership, scholarship, and service to become members of their society.

The William and Mary Choir, rapidly becoming one of the better known college choirs in the country, spent another eventful year under the able direction of Dr. Carl A. Fehr. who came to William and Mary in 1947. The major events of the season included the choir's two concerts given annually in the winter and in the spring. This year, the choir presented Handel's "Messiah" as their production in December. Soloists were Mary Ramsey, Glenna Bailey, Victoria Stone, Lavinia Pretz, Jeanne Armstrong, Nancy Butler, Sue Fryer, Barbara Huber, Ed Watkins, William Gatling, and Jim Bryden, Besides their many concert trips, which included journeys to West Point, Craddock, Glouchester, Urbana, and Richmond, the choir has been very active in Williamsburg. They presented a program for a convention being held at the Williamsburg Lodge, and sang at Bruton Parish Church, as well as at college functions such as convocations and chapel services. The choir will be long remembered by those who will graduate for their rendition of the William and Mary Hymn and the Alma Mater at the various convocations throughout the years.

Each year some of the choir members are fortunate enough to be chosen to sing under the direction of Dr. Fehr in the "Common Glory" held at Lake Matoaka. The long-playing RCA Victor recording which was published by the choir last spring was the fourth in the series of records by this organization.

William and Mary has every right to be proud of the achievements of the college choir. Not to be outdone in the least by the choir, the William and Mary chorus, under the direction of Dr. Carl A. Fehr, known more popularly as "Pappy." have again this year

DR. CARL A. FEHR

The William and Mary Chorus

WILLIAM AND MARY CHOIR AND CHORUS

The William and Mary Choir

attained a high mark in the world of vocal music. The one hundred and fifty women who compose this group sang in many of the chapel services and presented two concerts during the college year.

The traditional concert given just before Christmas holidays in the Methodist Church gave the girls an opportunity to impress their fellow students and the college community with the fact that their dilligent practice had not been in vain. To a full-house of eager listeners the chorus presented several familiar Christmas numbers and in conjunction with the choir, presented the "Hallelujah Chorus" from the "Messiah" by Handel. A performance of such high calibre shall not soon he forgotien.

The spring concert was held with the same musical excellence evident to all who attended. The chorus not only provided musical entertainment for various college functions but stressed the enjoyment which could be found by working and singing together. It is unnecessary to say that membership in the chorus was considered to be a privilege by the whole college community, and a most enjoyable extra-curricular activity by all of its members.

The college is justly prond of the high achievements of both the choir and the chorus and, of course, of "Pappy," who has been the guiding light in their training.

That old "show must go on" spirit still prevails among the William and Mary theatre group. Since the burning of the Phi Beta Kappa Hall in December of 1953, they have had no stage to call their own. But this handicap has not hindered the high standards of production to which the theatre usually holds.

The theatre opened season with Somerset Maugham's "The Circle." presented in Blow Gymnasium on October 20 and 21. This drawing room comedy was deftly handled by such actors as: Dick Thompson, Malcolm Anderson, Jean Shepard, Bobbie Lee Rankin, George Burns, Bill Thomas, Pete Neufeld, Patricia Ewell, and Jerry Clulow. The group truly had the art of putting high-calibre humor across to its audience.

The Circle

Miss Hunt, Director, is always on the prowl for "new blood." In Thomas Job's "Uncle Harry" she presented seven new faces to the audience at Matthew Whaley High School on December 8 and 9. The play was a thoroughly-enjoyable study in the psychological aspects of crime. Adding their fresh talents to the play were Shirley Stephenson, Eleanor Haynes, Bobbie Lee Rankin and Clarissa Mayfield.

In honor of National Theatre Month, sponsored by UNESCO and in honor of the Rededication of the Marshall-Wythe-Blackstone School of Law, the theatre presented a play based on the Archer-Shee court case of 1902. The play was Terrence Rattigan's "The Winslow Boy," presented at the Matthew Whaley Auditorium on March 9 and 10.

On April 27, 28, and 29 in Blow Gymnasium the theatre presented the comedy. "Twelfth Night." And as usual the group did Shakespeare proud, For many of the Old Faithfuls, this performance was a fine farewell, as graduation was just around the corner.

"Twelfth Night" closed another season of fine dramatic work, under the over-all direction of Miss Althea Hunt and the Technical Direction of Al Haak, Roger Sherman, as Scene-Designer and Howard Seammon, as Publicity Director also contributed to the success of the season.

Here's How

BACKDROP CLUB

Cast from Here's How

"Put on your best callico dress, Maw. We're going to Hoe-down!" Yes, the Backdrop Club went folksy on us this year and produced a Varsity Show like this campus has never seen. The show was a hall-mark in the history of productions. It was a musical comedy with some meaning behind the humor. The whole show was a monument to the ceaseless efforts of the members of the Backdrop Club.

The Backdrop Club has long been one of the largest organizations on campus. The only qualification for membership is that one be interested in the stage. The club members hold an open house in the fall to interest new members. In the spring the members have their wonderful picuic at Yorktown. But the big moment of the year is the Varsity Show written, directed, acted, and managed by the Students.

This year's Varsity Show took for its setting a country town in the Virginia bills. The Devil. egged on by his curious wife, comes to earth with her and their five sons, one nice and four not so nice. The whole family imposes itself on a country farmer with five daughters, four nice and one not so nice. While the ten children are having merry-mix-ups, the Devil has some of his own with the townspeople. Actually he is a good guy but is shunned by the town because he is different.

The Backdrop Club

The people directly responsible for the show had talent of the first order: George Burns, Dick Fensterer. Bill Thomas and Mickey Mighell gave the show its well-organized, cleverly-written script. Mickey Mighell also gave the show its sparkling, pert choreography. Bob Mackie and Bill Thomas gave the show its excellent technical direction and Pat Rund gave efficient management of the business duties. Constantly back of the whole undertaking was President Ginny Hungerford.

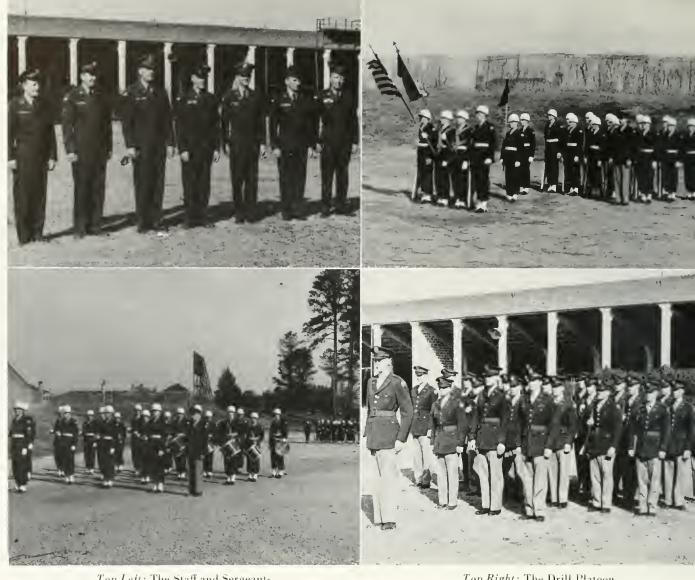

Officers for 1954–55 were: Ginny Hungerford, President; George Burns, Director: Pat Rund. Business Manager: Mickey Mighell. Choreographer; Robert Mackie, Technical Director: Bill Thomas. RESERVE OFFICERS TRAINING CORPS

Reserve Officers Training Corps

The Reserve Officers Training Corps Unit was established at the College of William and Mary in July of 1947. Its purpose throughout its history on campus has been to produce men capable of handling positions as commissioned officers in the United States Army Reserve.

This year an innovation has occurred, for the Department of Military Science and Tactics is now offering a course in General Military Science. Students completing this four year course will be given a certificate of Completion, and may be commissioned as Second Lieutenants in any of a number of branches of the United States Army Reserve. The branch of service entered will depend upon the need of the Army, but it will be determined, as nearly as possible, by the preference of the individual student.

The general course of study is produced in two phases: each of two years length. A basic course of study is provided for freshmen and sophomores. The more advanced course of study provided for junior and senior members of the Corps. gives a more technical study of the various branches of the service. Juniors and seniors who have been selected for their scholastic ability are enrolled in the advanced program.

Classes are held twice weekly, with a two hour drill period on Wednesday afternoon supervised by cadet officers under the leadership of Battalion Commander John Mahoney, Regulation uniforms are worn to classes and drills, Reviews of the entire Battalion were frequently held in the Sunken Garden. During the Wednesday afternoon drill periods, eadets acquire the rudiments of drill while cadet officers gain experience in the supervision of men.

Each year students enrolled in the Reserve Officers Training Corps are honored for their high scholastic achievement. At the fall Convocation, Colonel Guy L. Pace. Commanding Officer of the Unit presented citations to the following Distinguished Military Students: George W. Burns, Jr.: Roger W. Hill: Richard L. Holzbach: and John R. Regan.

Traditionally, at graduation in the late spring, certain of the Distinguished Military Students are designated as Distinguished Military Graduates, and from these the Department of the Army selects those to receive the honor of regular commissions in the United States Army.

Last year saw the successful completion of the first year of the new program in the Military Science and Tactics Department. This program proved to have advantages over the previous training programs given in Artillery. Students completing the course will have a broad basis in general military science and will be prepared to make a choice as to which branch of the Army they will enter and for which branch they will be best suited.

Company K of the Eighth Regiment, the local chapter of Scabbard and Blade, a national honorary military society, was active in campus affairs during 1954-55. This chapter was organized at the College of William and Mary in 1949 replacing the Centurion Club, an early honorary organization founded by the members of the Reserve Officers Training Corps.

Membership is comprised of outstanding members of both the junior and senior classes of men enrolled in the Reserve Officers Training Corps. The local chapter looks for that quality in men which makes them not only good officers but which makes them reliable students and citizens.

The purpose of Scabbard and Blade, as stated by its Captain, is to increase the interest and understanding of the students on campus in military affairs on a national level. It was hoped that by promoting interest in military affairs, a greater understanding between civilian and military groups could be obtained. This would result in cooperation toward military preparedness should a national emergency arise.

Initiation on December eighth saw the total membership at seven members. A second initiation was planned for the spring term.

It has been the tradition for members of the Corps to attend, in full dress uniform, the annual Military Ball. The group planned to sponsor the Ball this year and to sponsor certain ladies who will attend in formal evening dresses. Officers of Scabbard and Blade for 1954-55 were: James Mark. Captain: George Becouvarakis, First Lieutenant; Don Spivey, Second Lieutenant; and Patrick Scott Stone, First Sergeant.

SCABBARD AND BLADE

THE DEBATE COUNCIL

As well as doing extremely well in competition with other college debating teams, the Debate Council has been partially responsible for several changes and improvements in campus rules and issues by encouraging students to express their ideas on these topics and bring to light, problems which had been realized but continually disregarded as hopeless situations. Through this increased interest, students and administration have profited and gained a closer understanding.

The Council held several open houses this year with discussions on such things as: the fourth point of the Honor Code: and whether the United States should recognize the government of Red China. In addition to this, the group has made several radio broadcasts over WRVA in Richmond, a television appearance on WTAR-TV in Norfolk, and has participated in meets at Lynchburg. Wake Forrest, Georgetown, George Washington University, and Johns Hopkins. The Council took part in a tournament for Southern Schools at the University of Virginia: The Grand National Forensic Tournament at Mary Washington College: and the N.Y.U. Tournament in New York.

On February 12th, the Debate Council sponsored the Marshall-Wythe Debate Tournament here at William and Mary.

PEP CLUB

The Pep Club, one of the most active organizations on campus as evidenced by its name, has spent a busy year stirring up enthusiasm among the students. During the football season, the Pep Club was especially active, reserving special cheering sections at home football games, which gave an added spirit to the occasion. They sponsored pep rallies before each of the games, and showed movies of the football games at their weekly meetings. It was through this organization that much of the spirit shown for the athletic teams was agitated, and as a result, student support was never lacking.

The Pep Club also undertook to construct the float for the Homecoming Court as it has done every year, and sponsored special student trips to away football games this year. The Pep Club arranged for a special bus to go to the Navy game at Annapolis.

In the realm of social life, the Pep Club attempted to liven up the college calendar by holding dances and other social events throughout the year, maintaining student interest in the organization even after the football season was over.

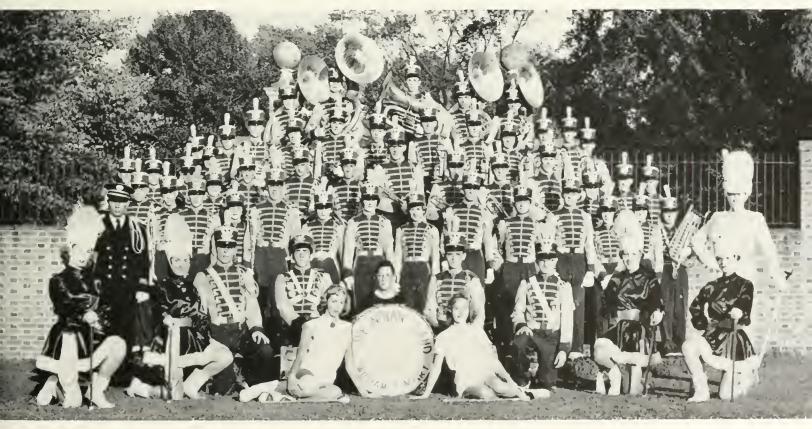

It is due, in large part, to this organization that our teams have had the spirit that they have had, knowing that the students were supporting them all the way. Even when they returned defeated, the Pep Club, still had its "pcp" to help them win next time. At last William and Mary Students have a band that they can be proud of! The new uniforms added much to the appearance of the band on the football field. But the quality of the music is the most noticeable improvement over past years. The new formations and the 190 marching cadence really made the crowd take notice. The band also played continuously from the time they entered the field at half-time until they left.

In addition to the college dance band, which featured an eighteen piece ensemble and soloists, many new activities were instituted during the past year. From time to time during the year concerts were given by the new concert band. Last summer the first annual Summer Band School was held for high school musicians. Directed by Mr. Varner, it was conducted as a clinical and a performing organization. Three concerts were given last summer including one at the opening of the Common Glory and two in the Wren Courtyard. The School was held for two weeks for both Virginia and out-of-state students in order to orient them into the college band program.

In order to attract top-grade Virginia musicians to the College, band scholar-ships of two hundred dollars were awarded for the first time on the basis of musicianship and scholarship. With the addition of these scholarship members to the band, prospects for increasing the band's size from fifty pieces to seventy-five pieces in 1956 look very good. By 1956 the college should be represented by a very flashy outfit of which all the students can be justly proud.

CHI DELTA PHI ETA SIGMA PHI

Chi Delta Phi. National Women's Honorary Literary Society, was founded at William and Mary to further the pursuits of literary ideals on this campus. To this end, Chi Delta Phi, inducts new members, chosen on the basis of literary ability into its sisterhood every spring and fall; conducts lectures by eminent writers; and holds meetings at which the writings of its members are criticized by the other members and by Dr. McBurney. These periods of critical analysis are of value to the members, not only in realizing their own abilities, but in recognizing the basis of literary criticism and the modern trends in the field.

Eta Sigma Phi, National Honorary Classical Society, is composed of students of Greek and Latin, chosen because of their high scholastic averages. The society holds meetings every month at which guest speakers lecture on the subject of the Classics, or related fields which are of interest to the members, Among those who spoke during the year was Dr. Morton Frisch, who presented a paper on the ideals of classical education as opposed to those of modern education. His paper was particularly thought provoking and indicative of the group's interest not only in classic literature, but in classical thought also. Receptions were held occasionally for the new members, or for guests of the classists, and rounded out the agenda of Eta Sigma Phi.

At the Thanksgiving and Christmas Seasons, the members made favors for the Eastern State Hospital in Williamsburg, Kappa Delta Pi, an honor society in Education, exists for the professional, intellectual, and personal betterment of its members and of the educational profession. The members of the Fraternity met together for a creative exchange of ideas on educational problems, Suggestions and discussion fostered enthusiasm and interest in the members. The Educational Profession in America needs sincerely interested teachers, Kappa Delta Pi is trying to fulfill this pressing need.

In January, the Fraternity initiated its new members and honored them with a banquet at the Williamsburg Lodge.

PRE-MEDCLUB

FRENCH CLUB SPANISH CLUB

The French Club held monthly meetings with various programs aimed at learning more about France and its people. These meetings were conducted completely in French. This was the first year that the club used French exclusively, and it was hoped that the participating members could become more familiar with the spoken language. The programs included a session with French records, a showing of slides of France, and a round table discussion by four students who had traveled about France.

Guest speakers included Dr. Reboussin and Dr. McBurney who addressed the club in French. The Club's social activities included a Christmas banquet at Thieme's and a spring picnic, Membership in the French Club was open to any students interested.

For those whom the magic words of Spain, Mexico, and South America hold a fascinating spell and a desire for learning, membership in the Spanish Club provides many opportunities. The Club is open to all students interested in Spanish language and Spanish culture, Meetings are held once each month, and a variety of programs are offered.

Highlighting last year's meetings was a Christmas banquet at Thiemes Restaurant with the French Club and an interesting and enlightening talk by Mr. John A. Moore on his experiences in Spain. Other programs included discussions of Spanish culture, customs, music, history, and language.

Although the meetings are not conducted in Spanish, an effort is made to include Spanish conversation in each meeting.

Several times each semester the members of the Literature Club discuss all phases of literature and writing. Membership in the Club is open to those with an interest in literature, and not just those majoring in English.

Theories are presented concerning the great writings of today and yesterday, as well as theories of writing. Guest speakers were chosen from members of the faculty whose interests represented various intellectual fields. An objective of the Club for the year was to present as diverse a program as possible.

A highlight of the year came in November when the Club had as its guest speaker, Dr. William H. McBurney of the English department, who entertained the members with a talk on "The Stuffed Owl."

LITERATURE CLUB

The Political Science Club, organized last year, has already become one of the most active organizations on eampus. The club has grown in size and has been quite successful in its stated purpose of furthering student-faculty relations through a common field of interest, and of stimulating student interest in matters of political science.

The programs for the monthly meetings were varied and included such speakers as Mr. C. H. Humelsine who lectured on "The Mechanics of Foreign Policy." and Dr. Stanley Williams who spoke on psychology in politics.

Christian Science Group

OFFICERS

Canterbury is the student organization of the Episcopal Church on this campus. The program of Canterbury is designed to promote corporate worship among its members, opportunities for social service, Christian education, and social fellowship.

The year's activities included study groups for the purpose of instruction of interested members, lay readers' training in Scriptural reading, alter guild work, and projects at Eastern State Hospital. The group sponsored devotional services in Wren Chapel every weekday morning, and held their annual Christmas and Easter banquets, and a pilgrimage to the Washington Cathedral.

CANTERBURY CLUB

The Christian Science Organization of the College of William and Mary was established on the campus by a group of students in February of 1954. Their main aims, as stated by President Richard Gatehouse, were to afford the opportunity for all those students on the William and Mary Campus to become acquainted with the tenets of Christian Science, and to fairly represent Christian Science here on campus.

The group has grown steadily through the past year and has held regular meetings on every Thursday night at the Christian Science Church. This group is affiliated with the Christian Science Mother Church of Boston, Massachusetts. The addition of this organization has completed the circle of campus religious groups.

Each of the eleven fraternities is represented in the Inter-Fraternity Council by its president and a second member elected from the fraternity. Officers of the Council are elected from these second representatives for a term of one year. The president of the Council for the past year was Bill Butler.

The aim of the Inter-Fraternity Council, as set forth in its constitution, is to promote cordial relationships among the men's social fraternities by providing a common medium through which to act. The Council encourages interfraternity athletics, as well as scholarship. It establishes rules governing both general fraternity activities and rushing, including pledging and initiation. The rushing rules cover the dates of rushing, formal rushing regulations, eligibility and initiation. If there is any violation of these rules, the council has the right to conduct trials.

The Council works as a service organization not only to the College but to the community as a whole. During orientation week of the fall semester, a general meeting was held to explain the fraternity system to all entering students to aid them in understanding and observing rushing rules. In addition, the Council cooperated with the Red Cross in sponsoring a blood drive each semester. Throughout the year the group worked to solve the problems of the fraternities and to improve such conditions as overcrowded lodges on weekends.

INTER-FRATERNITY COUNCIL

PAN-HELLENIC COUNCIL

The Pan-Hellenic Council consists of two delegates from each of the nine sororities on campus, and, as a representative body, is a forum for the discussion of questions of interest to the college and fraternity world. It cooperates with the National Pan-Hellenic Congress in maintaining high ideals of scholarship and promoting inter-sorority relations within the College.

The Council regulates both fall and February rushing, as well as pledging and initiation of sorority women. This year it installed a chapter limitation system whereby the chapters will limit themselves to sixty-five members each in three years.

The Pan-Hellenic Council awards a scholarship each year to a freshman woman to be used during her sophomore year. To raise money for this scholarship, the Council sold stationery and sponsored a joint dance with the Inter-Fraternity Council, It also sponsored during the second semester a talent show in which the pledges of the fraternities and sororities presented skits. This year the Council was in charge of the booth for food for the Colonial Festival.

In the fall the Pan-Hellenic Council gave a tea for the alumnae advisors of each sorority.

The officers for 1954-55 were Bay Campbell, president: Sara Jane Blakemore, vice-president: Jo Stephenson, secretary: and Becky Lynn, treasurer.

1954-'55 ATHLETICS

The sports picture at W&M for the 1954-55 season was in almost every case, the question of whether or not our talented but inexperienced sophomores could hold their own against seasoned opponents. As is characteristic of good, but inexperienced performers, the various teams showed flashes of brilliance, but over all season records were mediocre.

Under Coach Jackie Freeman, the "Big Green" came up with its finest performance against Va. Tech., the state's best team. In a ball game marked by defensive brilliance on both sides, Tech came from behind in the last four minutes of play to gain a six-six tie with W&M.

The basketball schedule was the roughest a W&M team had seen in some years. Against such stiff opposition, the team never really got started until the final game of the season when Coach Baird's cagers eame through with their performance of the year to soundly thrash a great Richmond ball club.

Under the tutelage of Gil Joyner, both the Cross Country and Track teams were much improved over their 1953 and 1954 performances, but even here the inexperience was evident.

Dudley Jensen did a remarkable job with the Swimming team which was non-existent as a varsity sport last year.

The spring sports showed undue promise this year, Track, as has been mentioned, appears on the up grade while Tennis and Golf. Coached by Dr. Wayne Kernodle and Jim Weeks respectively, proved to be the only exceptions to the "lack of experience" troubles of the other sports. Each of these teams were heavily endowed with both experience and talent and showed great promise for highly successful seasons.

Coach Eric Tipton expressed much doubt as to the fortunes of the 1955 edition of the W&M Baseball Team. This has been a chronically weak sport at the Reservation and the outlook this year was one of apathetic pessimism.

Mr. Jensen, co-ordinator of the Men's Intramural program, provided recreation for both students and faculty. He has been constantly expanding the program and his enthusiasm and desire for the work has made intramurals a major extracurricular activity. This year the race for the trophy was largely between three fraternities: Sigma Alpha Epsilon, Sigma Nu, and Pi Kappa Alpha. At the halfway mark SAE was ahead and seemed to be the fraternity to beat.

Though the overall record of our teams in intercollegiate contests was not phenomenal this year, the future looks brighter because of the experience gained by the younger members of the various teams.

CHEERLEADERS

This past year, the Cheerleading squad in connection with the school marching band sponsored pep rallies before all the football games. Parades, bonfires, and speeches by members of the team were featured in attempts to combat student apathy. The group also sponsored send-offs for the football team when they had to play games away from Cary Field. These "added attractions" were well organized and the whole group deserves credit for doing a wonderful job this year.

The cheerleaders led by captain. "Winkie" Wilde, supported the football team not only at its two home games, but also at a number of contests played away. The squad traveled to the Navy, North Carolina State, Pennsylvania, George Washington and Richmond games. Also, to increase student interest in the "Big Green." the cheerleaders and Pep Club showed movies of all the away games.

During the Basketball season the squad led cheers at all the home basketball games. They also planned to lead cheers at Tennis matches and Baseball games if more students would attend those functions.

In combination with the band, the cheerleaders provided pre-game and half-time entertainment as well as leading cheers during the football and basketball contests.

Because of limited funds, the squad was forced to make their own megaphones this year as the old ones had worn out. Two long-range plans of the group are to secure new uniforms and to be able to present all graduating members with monograms.

Members of this year's squad included Winkie Wilde, Dick Blanchard, Bill Armbruster, Gordo Wilde, Vern Arvin, Woozy Compe, Joan MacWilliams, and Kay Wirth, Adding color to this group were Donna Melnick and Peggy Hedrick who dressed as Indians.

Tryouts for the squad were held earlier in the year. There was a surprising turnout of over forty aspirants and it took four days to pick members for next year's squad. Among those selected to fill vacated positions were Janie Hutton, Julie Mudge, Faye Jones, Charlie Jones, Jack Herring, Chuck Dix, and Tim Cochran.

Compe, Armbruster, MacWilliams, Arvin, G. Wilde, Wirth, Blanchard, Head Cheerleader W. Wilde, Founded at William and Mary in 1914, the Varsity Club is dedicated primarily to increasing student interest in Varsity Athletics.

Adhering to their motto, "Win without boasting, lose without excuses," the Varsity Club strives to achieve greatness in sportsmanship, scholarship, character, perserverance, and cooperation.

The Varsity Club has been one of the most active organizations on campus. This past year members were ushers at all the home basketball games and the annual Mermettes water show.

The Club handled the election of the basketball queen, Jean Woodfield, who was crowned at the Varsity Club dance following the season's final basketball game against the University of Richmond, The group also planned to sponsor a hayride to Yorktown

There are also two long-range projects that were looked into by the Varsity Club. They were carrying on negotiations with the Administration concerning the securing by the organization of their own club room in Blow Gymnasium. The room would be completely redecorated and used by club members only for meetings and social gatherings. The other project was the possibility of securing some much-needed new score boards for the Gym.

The President of the Varsity Club this past year was Bill Marfizo, Other officers included Bud Fisher and Leo Schuette.

ASSISTANT FOOTBALL COACHES

Coach Jackie Freeman, in his third year as head football coach, guided the Big Green through a roller coaster season that finally leveled off with a .500 record—four wins, four losses and two ties. The travelling Tribe suffered shutout defeats against a vengeful Middie team and against the unpredictable and explosive Wolfpack from N.C. State who were also seeking revenge, V.M.I. pulled its seemingly annual upset surprise, and West Virginia did not help Homecoming festivities at all.

The northern jaunts to the University of Pennsylvania and Rutgers proved highly successful for the nomadic Tribe, as they collected decisive victories against both teams. Highlighting the win column are the victories against a pair of strong arch-rivals, Wake Forest and Richmond, The minor upset victory over the Deacons, who had previously tied Maryland, and the marginal win over the Spiders in the annual Thanksgiving Day contest gave a happy finish to the 1954 season.

Co-Captains: Jerry Sazio and Charlie Sumner.

In a game rated as a toss-up. William and Mary and George Washington played a spirited game that ended in a deadlock. But the significant tie was a minor upset to the vaunted V.P.I. eleven. Holding a national rating, Tech sought to defeat the Tribe and break a two decade jinx. The Big Green. however, was up to the occasion, and held the frustrated Gobblers to a humiliating tie, Freeman enjoyed the capable assistance of an experienced and respected coaching staff. Eric Tipton, a 15 year veteran coach on the Reservation, and Herb Miller carried the brunt of staff coaching duties, while Gil Joyner efficiently checked the Tribe's minor injuries to keep the gridiron machine in running shape.

Jack Cloud, former William and Mary All-American and Washington Redskin star, and Dickie Lewis, another great Indian star, returned to the reservation and proved to be valuable assistants as staff coaches.

Doug Henley and Bob Hornsby, alternating at the fullback slot, carried the brunt of the Tribe's shock action in the place of Bill Bowman. "Jeep" Bednarik and George Parazzo, stalwarts of the 1953 squad, left the Tribe with serious problems in the line. However, Bill Riley and Elliot Schaubach proved up to their respective tasks and, along with Jerry Sazio, bolstered the Indian lineplay throughout the season.

Jack Yohe breaks through Navy line for 30 yards and a first down on the Middle five-yard stripe.

N.C. State 26: William and Mary 0

After a year of pent-up wrath, Navy gave the visiting Big Green no time to think of upsets as the Middies fought to a 27-0 victory. The potentially strong Tribe had trouble in mounting a threatening offense against the vengeful Middies, and the stubborn Indian defense held Navy for three quarters.

The future Admirals, however, were not to be denied, and a series of offensive outbursts in the final quarter assured the Sugar Bowl champs of their "desired" victory. For Freeman, it was the second shutout of his coaching career at William and Mary.

In the process of the one-sided affair, Navy rolled up an impressive 407-138 yard total offensive rushing record to become the top defensive team in the nation. Quarterback George Welsh piloted the spirited victors with the notable assistance of halfback Bob Craig and his shifty running.

Shorty Herrmann and Jack Yohe starred in most of the ground gaining efforts to account for half of the Tribe's total offense. But, an indomitable Navy defense harassed the Tribe, causing five fumbles and four interceptions.

Charlie Sumner returned to haunt Franklin Field again when he "tight-roped" down the sidelines to carry back a punt 93 yards for a touchdown. In 1952, Sumner had carried a kickoff 89 yards for a tally.

The Indians, still smarting from the Navy defeat, ran rampant against the Quakers, as the Big Green rolled for scores—one in the first quarter, two in the second, and the final score in the fourth stanza in crushing Pennsylvania, 27-7.

The second time the Tribe got possession of the ball, Jack Yohe returned a punt 34 yards to the Pennsylvania 23. Yohe and fullback Bob Hornsby teamed up to move the ball to the six inch line. On the next play, Sumner scored his first touchdown of the game on a quarterback sneak, In the second quarter. Yohe teamed up with "Shorty" Herrmann to keep the attack rolling. The strong defensive line, led by Co-captain Jerry Sazio. Sam Scott and Ray Chiesa kept the Quakers from moving the ball, and forced them to kiek.

Summer picked up the ball on the seven yard line, faked to Yohe, picked up key blocks from Scott and Bob Meith, then dashed up the chalk stripe to outdistance the last Pennsylvania defenders. This was the longest run of the season by a Tribe back, and could be called the "play of the year."

With time running out in the first half. Al Grieco intercepted a Quaker pass and raced 30 yards to the Pennsylvania 10. A clipping penalty set the Indians back to the 38, but Greico, with 40 seconds left on the clock, passed to Billy Martin in the left flat, and he went all the way to score. Sazio converted again, and the Tribe held a 20-0 lead at the half-way mark.

The third quarter was a standstill with the Quakers finally showing some spark and determination. Again Sumner put out the spark, this time on an interception. The Indians moved 68 yards in eight plays, climaxed by a Sumner-to-Hornsby pass good for the final score of the game. This was not only a good day for Sumner. Chiesa, Scott, Yohe, Hornsby, Sazio, Grieco and Marfizo were all outstanding in the best showing for the Tribe in the 1954 season.

N.C. State 26; William and Mary 0

A fired-up State Wolfpack broke a ten game winning streak by besting the shaky Indians 26-0 at Norfolk's Optimist Bowl. Students, provided free bus transportation by the Norfolk Optimist Club, witnessed a bevy of speedy State backs spell disaster for the determined but ineffective Tribesmen.

The Wolfpack, which had not won a game from William and Mary since 1945, unveiled a "multiple" offense and made it work against the Tribe. Fumbles and interceptions were costly to the Tribe, With less than a minute played in the first quarter. William and Mary fumbled deep in its own territory, and apparently the pattern of the night was set. Bill Marfizo, "Shorty" Herrmann. Bill Martin and Doug Henley were standouts for the Indians, on both offense and defense.

N.C. State quarterback West directed his team with professional-like precision while using the T, split T, single wing and short punt formations with equal success. The Tribe's line and defensive backs tried hard to stop the powerful State running game but injuries to defensive standouts like Marfizo and Scott hampered the valient efforts of the Indians.

The Big Green's weaknesses were exploited by the Pack on every opportunity. Long runs by several backs, a good passing attack and an insurpassable defensive line spelled doom for Coach Freeman's men, who did not have much resemblance to the powerful eleven who had played Pennsylvania the week before.

William and Mary 14; Rutgers 7

Two long lightening-like thrusts by a couple of small speed merchants, At Grieco and Jack Yohe, catapulted the William and Mary Indians to a 14-7 decision over a hapless Rutgers team. Grieco, a diminutive quarterback, and Yohe, a track star, clicked off runs of 86 and 78 yards respectively to even off the Indians' season record at two victories and two defeats.

An Alumni Day crowd of nearly 10,000 saw Rutgers jump to a 7-0 lead in the first quarter. Recovering a fumble on the Tribe 40, the Rutgers star. Johnson, finally streaked over from the 24. Greico snatched the ensuing kick off on the 14 and scampered right up the middle of the field for an 86 yard touchdown run.

Bill Martin outstretches a G.W. defender for a Sumner pass. The play was good for 19 yards.

On the first play of the second quarter, with the game tied at 7-7, sophomore Jack Yohe took the ball and knifed through left tackle, racing 78 yards to hoist the Indians into a 14-7 lead. Two other long thrusts fell short, and the men from Williamsburg were forced to be satisfied with the one touchdown margin.

Yohe was the rushing leader for William and Mary. He carried 14 times for 99 yards. Al Grieco connected on five out of twelve passes for 124 yards. Johnson and Jack Fennell starred for Rutgers, gaining 49 yards on 15 carries, and passing for 100 yards on 11 out of 19 attempts. End Larry Fones and Co-captain "Jarring" Jerry Sazio both played outstanding defensive games. Bill Marfizo and Fones both aided the Tribe's efforts by recovering fumbles.

William and Mary 13; George Washington 13

But the problem of fumbles marred the Indians in their efforts to subduc George Washington University. The Tribe had to settle for a tie in their first conference battle, which seemed to be the most evenly matched game of the season.

With Greico at quarterback directing a tempermental offense, the Big Green's scoring attacks were handled by Henley and Yohe. Drawing blood early in the first quarter. Henley's right end run gave the Tribe a 6-0 lead. The Colonial offense parked to life late in the second period, however, to score with 55 seconds remaining in the half. Culminating a 54 yard drive, quarterback Arnie Tranen scored from the Tribe one yard line on the option play. Bob Sturm's conversion gave George Washington a 7-6 lead at the half.

Most of the third period found the Tribe and Colonials locked in a stalemate, as neither team could threaten. With three minutes remaining in the period, Grieco intercepted a Colonial pass on his own 45 and raced 27 yards before he was stopped. The quarter ended with the Big Green on the George Washington two yard line. Yohe, in the first play of the final quarter, carried off tackle to put the Tribe in the lead. Sazio's conversion proved to be the tying point of the contest.

In the final minutes, the Colonials again came to life when Bill Weaver intercepted one of Grecio's aerials on his 12 to halt the Tribe's final scoring threat. After a series of ground gains, Bob Sturm passed to Richie Gaskell for the tying tally. Sturm's conversion attempt was wide, and the conference opponents were forced to settle for a tie.

Virginia Tech's Gobblers remained unbeaten by escaping defeat in the final minutes of the game against a tough and determined Tribe defense. Throughout most of a long afternoon of frustration for a Homecoming crowd of 15.000 at Blacksburg, it appeared that the Indians might bring off the biggest upset of the season in Virginia, But, finally, with less than four minutes remaining, Tech managed to sneak a score across the goal line from the three yard line.

For more than three and one half quarters, it seemed as if William and Mary's defense was good enough to defeat Tech. The Indians made only one first down during the first half.

and gained only 38 yards to the Gobblers' 194. Nevertheless, the Indians led by 7-0 when the teams left the field at the half.

The Indian offense could not get started in the first half, but the stubborn Indian forward wall kept the flashy "pony" backs of Tech bottled up. With a little more than three minutes left in the half. Tech's Billy Cranwell threw a pass intended for halfback Dave Ehert. Doug Henley, William and Mary's new fullback, stepped in front of Ehert, stole the ball and set sail for the Gobbler's goal 55 yards away. Henley made it all the way, and the outstanding player on the field. Co-captain Jerry Sazio, added the all-important kick after touchdown to end the Tribe's scoring for the day. Only once after the game was tied could Grieco muster his forces for any sustained offensive drives.

The "Light Brigade" of Tech rolled up yard after yard, only to have the thrust stopped by the Indians' brilliant defensive stands and the effective punting of Co-captain Charlie Sumner, Freeman had the Gobbler's game correctly diagnosed and jammed the line using 5-4-2, 7-2-2 and 6-3-2 defensive patterns throughout the game. V.M.I. Keydets, putting up a fighting defense of their State Big Six title, took advantage of two early breaks and grabbed a surprising 21-0 upset win over the Indians. Ten thousand fans watched the annual Shrine Bowl game, as the Keydets' Dave Woolwine staged a brilliant passing show and led his running mates. Nick Servidio and Mike Foley, to their most impressive win of the season.

In the last five minutes of the first quarter. Woolwine pitched a 33 yard aerial to end Tom Dooley for V.M.l.'s first tally. Playing for the thirty-second time in one of the Southern Conference's oldest series, the two teams battled back and forth in a furious struggle of ground attacks with the outcome still in doubt until the final quarter. The Indians never gave up. They fought back and worked their way deep into Keydet territory in the first, second and third quarters, but untimely interceptions and recovered fumbles kept the Tribe from crossing the double line.

Greico, Yohe and Hornsby moved the ball well, and Charlie Sumner was effective on defense, Greico again showed his effectiveness as a passer by amassing 126 yards on 6 completions, However, the costly mistakes and the rugged upsetminded Keydets kept the Big Green out of the scoring columns for the afternoon,

West Virginia 20; William and Mary 7

The biggest quarterback in major football masterfully directed the powerful Mountaineers of West Virginia to a 20-6 win over the Indians on the latter's Homecoming Day. Fred Wyant, the stellar field general of the Mounties, scored all three touchdowns, as the Indians' magnificent defense could not quite compensate for the lack of an effective offense.

A 10.000 Homecoming Day crowd saw the smaller Indians stop nationally ranked West Virginia many times in the first half, but finally overcome by the fast West Virginia linesmen and the amazing Mr. Wyant. The first quarter was a see-saw affair, with the Tribe defense containing the powerful Mountaineer backs. However, the Indians were unable to capitalize on five West Virginia fumbles, Late in the period. Sazio attempted a field goal from the 28, but the pass from center was too high, and again the Indian offense was bogged down.

When only five minutes remained in the first half, a Grieco pass was intercepted on the Indians' 35 yard line. Wyant accounted for 23 of the 35 yards, and, on the fourth down with less than two minutes left in the half, he scored from the three yard line. At half time, West Virginia maintained a slim 7-0 lead.

The second half saw the Indians come roaring out with a very effective running attack, as Yohe and Herrmann carried for long gains. The massive West Virginia line finally stopped the fast Indians, and the game remained a defensive duel until late in the third quarter. Another Greico pass and a penalty gave the Mounties possession on the one yard line. From there, Wyant tallied his second six pointer of the game.

Sumner came out ahead on another of his fine punting duels, and, as a result, West Virginia was held deep in their own territory. West Virginia was forced to kick from its own 10 yard line. Little Jack Yohe grabbed the ball on the Tribe 43, faked to Greico and raced through the entire Mountie team for the Indian tally of the day. Sazio intercepted a pass later in the last quarter to give the Indians a chance to tie up the game, but the breaks and a fine West Virginia pass defense stopped the Indians' last drive on the West Virginia 22. Moving 78 yards in only eight plays, the mighty Mountaineers' Wyant scored for the third and last time to give the West Virginians a hard fought and well deserved victory.

William and Mary 13; Wake Forest 9

The annual "Thrill Bowl" between the Deacons of Wake Forest and the Indians of William and Mary was no exception this year, with the Tribe winning 13-9, making it three to one in the last four games of the South's most thrilling classic. The game was, for the most part, a defensive one from the start, with Sumner besting Wake Forest's Nick Consales in a brilliant punting duel. Several times, Tribe punts rolled dead inside the Deacons' ten yard line, while alert and fast Indian linesmen prevented effective runbacks.

Bob Elzey played a brilliant defensive game, and, on the last play of the game, racked up a Deacon pass receiver on the three yard line to end the scoring threat. Sumner scored the first time the Tribe had the ball, while the Deacons collected a field goal in the first quarter and a touchdown in the second to lead 9-6 at half-time.

Halfback Shorty Herrmann took a pass from quarterback Sumner late in the fourth quarter, shook the mud from his shoes and two Demon Deacons from his back, then raced 53 yards for the winning touchdown. Sumner, playing at his regular position at quarterback for the first time in five games, connected on 11 of the 17 passes attempted. End Larry Fones, the leading receiver in the Southern Conference grabbed seven aerials for a total of 87 yards, Marfizo. yards to pay dirt, only to have the score nullified by a misplaced clipping penalty on the Richmond 15 yard line. In the final half, Richmond's previously commendable backs were completely stymied by hard charging Indian linesmen, and most of the play was within the Spiders' 20 yard line.

Shorty Herrmann was outstanding in his last game for the Big Green. He made constant gains on quick opening dashes and accounted for many of the Indian ten first downs. Bill Marfizo was, as usual, a stalemate on defenses, as was Co-captain Jerry Sazio. Sumner, Yohe, Riley, and Elliott Schaubach played fine games for the Tribe.

By winning the last game of the season, Coach Jackie Freeman's Indians finished with a 4-4-2 season against some of the Renewal of the annual Thanksgiving classic between the two oldest rivals in the state proved rewarding for the Indians, and they returned to the Reservation with the "Little Bronze Turkey" trophy for the next year.

The Indian victory was the fifteenth consecutive win over the Spiders from the University of Richmond. When Bill Marfizo broke through the defenders' line to block a punt in the Spider end zone, he gave the Tribe a safety and a 2-0 victory.

The score does not tell the full story, as the Indians outplayed the improved Richmonders throughout the game, and finished the season as the best passing team in the Southern Conference. The nationally ranked defenses of the Spiders let the Indians run wild, but managed to hold them from crossing the goal line on several occasions.

toughest competition in the Eastern and Southeastern parts of the nation. The win enabled the Big Green to the V.M.l. and the University of Virginia for second place in the final Big Six standings.

To the Happy Hunting Grounds

Nine seniors closed their collegiate football careers in the Richmond game, Jerry Sazio, a 60 minute "iron man" and Sam Scott left holes in the Indian line, Linwood Cox and Larry Fones vacated the end positions, adding to the problem of strengthening the forward wall.

Charlie Sumner, one of the Indians' more versatile backs, also wound up his collegiate career. Sparking the offense with his passing and running, Sumner also proved valuable on defense, "Shorty" Herrmann's graduation left the Tribe without the services of a hard-playing, spirited halfback, one whose constant effort served to boost the Big Green in their darker moments, Bob Elzy, Charlie Copeland and Tom Hamilton also hung up their cleats because of graduation.

counter. They rebuffed the Papoose attack and avenged their previous defeat.

Some of the younger varsity men trying to gain experience for later occasions often supported the Papoose eleven: outstanding were: Bob Nelson, Micky Simpson, Tom Sydnor.

First Row: Duer, Mallandra, Goodwyn, Bollinger, Nicolls, Watson, Sherman, Hardage, Carter, Second Row: McCray, Kannas, Hongh, Bonfardin, Hindmarsh, Northcott Thomas.

Enthusiasm over these victories stirred the hope of a possible undefeated season for the "Little Green," However, the varsity's need for reinforcements and injuries to key-men limited the potentialities of the squad. This lack of depth led to the initial defeat of the J-V's at the hands of George Washington.

Angered by their first defeat the "Little Indians" attempted to win at the expense of a determined VMI J-V, McCray and Rod Runyan sparked their team to a lead, which was lost in the last 3 minutes of play on a VMI desperation pass,

The faltering Papooses, their record now standing at 2 and 2, entered Richmond with hopes of beating the Spiders a second time. The Spiders were up for this gridinon en-

The bulk of the work remained on the shoulders of the "Little Green." A staunch line was bulwarked by the play of tackle John Brantly, guard Denys Grant, and end Larry Peccatiello. In the backfield, McCray, Runyan, and Ben Nichols aided by fine blocking reeled off much of the yardage for the "Little Green" attack.

The overall gridiron play of the W&M J-V's paralleled that of the Varsity. The Papooses could not maintain a steady, dependable offense. Their scores were generally due to long passes or runs. The main asset of the "Little Green" was its staunch defense. Although the scores do not tend to indicate this, the Papooses territorial protection was tops. The big flaws were lack of weight and experience to cope with the onslaughts of their opponents.

Strengthened by a Freshman Class rich in long distance runners, the cross country team improved more with each race. Of the seven man squad, which had a record of two wins, three defeats and one tie, five were Freshmen, who lacked only experience on the longer and tougher tracks of collegiate competition, Co-captained by the only two returning lettermen, Bud Fisher and Leo Schutte, the harriers displayed greater depth than in the recent years and sustained the hopes of Coach Gil Joyner.

In the first league meet against V.M.I, the Indians were outclassed and consequently trampled 16-51, State champion Ben Angle of V.M.I, raced in first followed by three of his teammates and Bud Fisher, who finished in fifth place.

Although Warren Chukinas of Richmond led throughout the second meet on Richmond's Westhampton Course, the Indians secured the victory by taking the next six spots. Derrick Richardson, Bud Fisher, Leo Schutte, Jim Schuster, George Royer and Randy Hinkle finished second through seventh respectively.

Both North Carolina and Davidson managed to defeat the Tribe in a triangular meet on North Carolina's twisting four mile course. State grabbed six of the first seven places with Richardson, Fisher and Hinkle being the only Indians to place among the top fifteen.

At this point in the season, seeing sufficient progress by the team, Coach Joyner uttered. "These boys are expected to be heard from in a short time and don't you forget it."

In the next two meets the Tribe tied Washington and Lee and trounced Richmond for the second time. 33-54. Richardson and Fisher both placed in the Southern Conference, thus completing the season.

Returning to varsity competition after a year's absence, the William and Mary swimming team coached by Dudley Jensen, finished the rugged '55 season with a three win—four loss record. Co-captains Stu Sell and Dave Bannerman paced the tankmen through the seven meets with Fritz Trinler copping high point honors for the season.

The initial encounter with V.M.1. ended on a discouraging note as the Cadets took all but one first place to gain a decisive 61 to 23 victory over the Indians. Roger Drake. Sell. Trinler and Bannerman combined forces to capture the only first place by winning the 440 freestyle relay.

Coach Boydson Baird with team captain. John Mahoney.

The outlook for the 1954-55 W&M basketeers was the most promising in several years as the season got underway. Led by their stellar captain, John Mahoney, the Tribe was able to gain a creditable 11-14 record while running through an extremely tough schedule.

Supported by a host of talented sophomores and several men returning to the team, Coach Baird found himself with a strong bench and a fast, competent starting five. Such cage veterans as Mahoney, Howie Bollerman, Warren Rutledge, Joe Hume and Herb Klapp and the addition of sophomores. Jim Kaplan, Charlie Morrow and Don Engelken contributed to the optimistic outlook as competition began,

Opening with nationally ranked N.C. State at Raleigh, the Tribe kept with the highly rated Wolfpack until, with twelve minutes remaining, State began to pull away: finally winning 111-97 despite Mahoney's 27 points.

Swinging further south, the Tribe hoopsters clashed with high-scoring Darrell Floyd and his Furman teammates in their initial S.C. encounter. Trailing by six points at half-time, the Indians put on a second half surge to nip the Purple Palachins 103-101 in one of the season's most exciting games. Mahoney leaped into national prominence with his 47 point performance, which snapped the old school record of 45 and earned him third place among the country's scorers. Despite the outstanding display, he was forced to yield scoring honors to Furman's sharp-shooting Floyd, who led the field with 53 markers.

Unbeaten Tennessee proved too rough for the Indians as they completed their initial road trip. Despite another sharp game for Mahoney, the Vols were able to keep the Tribe in check and gain a 91-78 victory, Tribe eagers eclipsed the old school record when Charlie Morrow bucketed a foul goal in the last twenty second for point number 106.

The North Carolina clash provided one of the best games in the annals of W&M basketball. Trailing by five points at intermission, the Indians began to hit with regularity in the second half and after six minutes, had jumped ahead. Thereatfer, the lead changed hands six times and the count was tied on eleven occasions until, with hardly more than a minute remaining, the Tribe moved in front for good to win by Mohoney, Herb Kłapp and Don Engelken. A dull 82-67 triumph over a weak V.P.I. aggregation completed the Braves tournament activity.

Back on the road after the holidays, the William and Mary basketball prospects hit a snag, as the Tribe dropped two and won one to mediocre competition. A 36-61 pasting by Vanderbilt was followed by a 77-56 walloping at the hands of a weak Navy team. A close victory over Washington and Lee completed the disastrous trip.

The Indians' fortunes dipped to a new low with their re-

79-76. Joe Hume and Warren Rutledge were particularly outstanding in the Braves' come-back win.

As the holiday season began, the cagers traveled to South Orange, N.J. to engage the highly rated Seton Hall Pirates. Boasting an unblemished sheen of six victories, the Jerseyites easily added the Tribe to their list of conquests, triumphing 108-89 before a packed house. Mahoney's 37 points established a new gymnasium record for both number of field goals and total score by an opposing player.

The week following Christmas found the Indian quintet entered in the eight team field at the first Richmond Invitational Tournament, Following an 84-74 conquest of Boston U.'s Terriers, the Tribe found themselves with the inevitable task of tackling powerful George Washington in the semifinals. Paced by Cocky Delen's 31 points, the Colonials were able to triumph to the tune of 87-73, despite fine performances turn to Virginia soil. Facing nationally-ranked G. W. and Richmond, the local hoopsters came off second best in both contests. Holding only a two point edge at intermission, the Colonials ran rough over the Tribe in the second half, triumphing 77-65. Richmond was no less effective. Hitting on better than 60% of their shots, the Spiders never left the contest in doubt as they romped home 92-71.

As the semester drew to a close, the locals once again took to the road and easily conquered two Virginia teams, V.P.I. and V.M.I., with scores of 75-69 and 88-68 respectively. Returning home for their final encounter of the first term, the Indians dropped an exciting 67-62 decision to a strong Maryland club. Drawing within three points of the slow-moving Terps, with less than four minutes of play remaining, an upset seemed at hand, but Maryland clinched the contest from the free throw line.

Faced with the loss of starters. Bollerman and Rutledge, at mid-term, Coach Baird brought sophomores Jim Kaplan and Don Engelken off the bench to give the braves more overall speed. The "new look" was quite evident as the Tribe again trampled V.P.I. and V.M.I. Sandwiched between these victories was a 126-99 loss to mighty N.C. State at Norfolk. Ron Shavlih, the Wolfpack's towering center, shattered all ACC records by scoring fifty-five points in the lopsided contest.

Turning their attentions to the S.C. and Big Six races, the Tribe entered the final two weeks of the campaign with hopes for high finishes in both. Successive losses to west Virginia. W&L and G.W., virtually ended all hopes for a successful season. The clash at Morgantown featured the antics of the Mountaineers' much publicized "Hot Rod" Hundly as the Indians went down to the count of 95-31 despite Mahoney's game high total of 27 markers.

A vastly improved W&L aggregation invaded the Reservation fresh from an upset triumph over Richmond. captain Lee Marshall, the Generals thrashed the locals 86-67 to knock them into sixth place in the S.C. race and virtually smashed all hopes for the Big Six title.

A journey to Washington earned for the Tribe only a 119-76 thrashing at the hands of the Colonials, Led by Holup and Delvin, G.W. never lost the lead in the contest.

Making their final appearance on the Reservation, the locals clashed with the strong Richmond club in the "grudge match of the year." Not having defeated the Spiders in three years, the Tribe was obviously "up" for the contest as they jumped to a 13-11 lead which they increased to 35-25 at intermission. Richmond, led by the efforts of their tiny guard, Warren Mills, began to cut the margin in the second half, but the Indians were not to be denied. The final score was a convincing 93-73. Captain John Mahoney, making his last appearance before local fans, turned in a phenominal performance, capturing 36 points and 13 rebounds.

Coach Eric Tipton

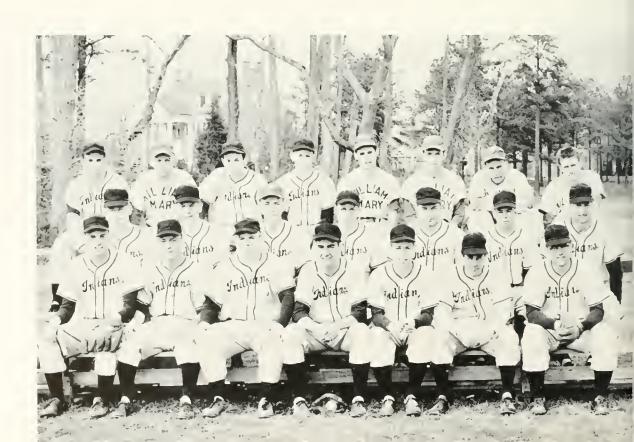

Co-Captains Groettum and Begore

In 1954, William and Mary had one of its worst seasons of modern times. The team won only four out of 12 games. The only consolation Coach Eric Tipton had, during his second season as Coach here on the reservation, were the victories over Randolph Macon (6-3; 7-6) and West Virginia (4-2; 2-0). Both teams were favored to win over the tribe in each of the games, but because of some top-notch pitching by Bill Twomey and Dick Wall, the Indians came out ahead.

The batting average of the team was not too impressive except for Tommy Martin, the only one on the team to hit over .300. Wayne Begore was close behind him with an average of .296, and Walt Forbes, out-standing first baseman, hit .260.

The infield consisted of Walt Forbes, Wayne Begore, Monk Knight, and Al Grieco. The outfield included Bill Bowman at left field, Tommy Martin at center, and Roger Groettum at right. Besides Twomey and Wall the pitching staff included Hubbard and Gene Hopkins. Behind the plate for the tribe was Doug Henley, who will not return to his position this season because of a shoulder difficulty which he acquired while playing football.

Although the prospects for the coming season look brighter than last year's, it is still rather difficult to make any predictions. There are no worries about the capabilities of the infield and outfield, with such veterans as Forbes at first, Begore at second. Al Grieco at short-stop, and Monty Knight at third.

Grieco gets a hit during intra-squad practice game

If the pitching staff of the Tribe does well, the outcome of the season will be impressive. Although there are no title possiblities on the surface. "Tip" does think that the tribe will finish the season in first-division.

An inexperienced, but enthusiastic group. Coach Wayne Kernodle's netmen lived up to their mentors expectations by completing a successful '55 net season, Captained by Tom Reel, the team lunged through a tough series of matches with Cornell, Williams, West Virginia, V.P.I., Washington and Lee, V.M.I., Navy and George Washington, A fine showing was also made in the Southern Conference competition early in May.

With warm weather, experienced lettermen and enthusiastic aspirants alike headed for the tennis courts. Returnees were listed as Captain Reel. Carl Geig, and Joe Reynolds. Newcombers were Toby Perry. Charlie Morrow. Mason Swan, Ed Phillips, Jeff Dixon, dry Blacher and Bob Doughtie.

According to Coach Kernodle the squad this year was a little better all the way down the line, than it was last season. The '54 team had a 7-6 racket record.

Top men of the team this year in order were: Reel, Phillips, Reynolds and Perry.

GOLF

William and Mary graduate and Williamsburg golf pro. Jim Weeks, returned to the Reservation this year to take command of the Indian golf team. Weeks expressed complete confidence in the capabilities of the team before the stiff season was underway and stuck to his praise throughout the Spring. The biggest brunt of the competition was placed on the top three W and M golfers Captain Jim Mark. Bill Wray and veteran Mike Cestone.

The opening encounter of the year with Dartmouth proved that the squad was good, but would have a fight to maintain a good average as Dartmouth won the first of two matches on March 29 and 30.

Besides Captain Mark and Wray, other returning linkmen were Pete Freeauf and Bruce Rumage. New to the Indian squad were freshmen. Walt Lawrence, a participant in last year's Virginia Junior Amateur Tourney and Budd Gaeta, a New Jersey star: sophomore, Tom Shaw: junior, Spafford Timberlake: and seniors. Gordo Wilde and Jerry Muchison who won the John Beers Memorial Tournament.

Mike Cestone, number one man on the '52 squad, returned after two years in the service to make a brilliant showing.

Manager and acting publicity man for the linkmen. Wayne Jackson, a transfer student, was ineligible to compete this year due to an NCAA rule,

The team also entered the Southern Conference and Virginia Intercollegiate matches.

RACK

At the beginning of the season Coach Gil Joyner was a little skeptical as to the outcome of the eight meet track schedule. Within two weeks, after the opener with Cornell, the extensive workouts on a completely overhauled track seemed to pay off as the Indian cindermen improved rapidly. Co-captains Leo Schutte and George Karchner as well as Walt Fillman, Jack Yohe and Al Stringer kept the team in the running. Schutte stood out in the mile run while Karchner strengthened the shot put and javalin throw. Fillman and Yohe favored the 100 yard dash and Stringer ran the 220. Mike Miller, another veteran runner, remained master of the hurdles with Jim Singletary close on his heels, Bob McClintock again starred in the 440 and 880.

Newcomers to the squad were George Royer, Jim Schuster, Neil Hock, Derrick Richardson, Dick Shively, Jay Sanner. Vern Hurt, Pete Peterson, Dave Crowley and Dave Little. Sid Mook and Fritz Trinler, W&M aquamen, also joined the cindermen to toss the discus and pole vault, respectively. John Ottaway. John Lundilus, Lloyd Hicks, Bob Bonfardin, Bob Bales, John Macarcyzk and Dave Ferriday completed the small but effective group.

Meets of the season were with Cornell, Williams, Colgate, West Virginia, V.P.I.. V.M.I., George Washington, Hampden Sydney, North Carolina University, N.C. State, Washington and Lee and Navy.

Another successful intramural program was set up by intramural director. Dudley Jensen this year. The program included a great variety of team and individual sports which were open for fraternity, independent and faculty enjoyment. Characteristic of the entire season was the keen interest and competition displayed by all parties.

The fraternity race was dominated most of the way by Sigma Alpha Epsilon, Going into the closing weeks of the season, Sigma Nu was rising steadily from second place and Pi Kappa Alpha was holding a close third, Last year's winner. Theta Delta Chi, was in the midst of the fight for fourth place.

The fall session opened with PiKA jumping to an early advantage in touch football. With Don Spivey and Dick Rowlett leading the way, they defeated SAE in a playoff game.

Below: Swimming champs: Mook, Drake, Rowe, Risjord Bottom: Pi Kappa Alpha championship football team

Independent football fashioned such powers as TNT and center Bryan with TNT capturing the honors. Perhaps the most surprising upset of the campaign was a tie game fought between TNT and an underdog Monroe team led by speedy Neil Hock.

Following football the stress began to lean towards individual sports. Don Spivey won the place-kicking crown for PiKA and Charlie Morrow of SAE beat Toby Perry for tennis honors.

Phi Kappa Tau entered the race as Ackley Melson defeated Dr. George Sands of the faculty in the horseshoe finals.

Competition reached a peak in swimming as Theta Delt and PiKA battled to a tie.

bling for the title.

One of the most popular activities of the season was wrestling. This was an experiment by Dudley Jensen and it turned out most favorably. More students turned out to watch the matches than any other intramural activity. Theta Delt squeezed out the team victory shadowed closely by SAE and SV.

In free throws, "Bimbo" Bailey of KA came in first followed by Al Greico of SN.

The coveted handball championship was captured by Jerry Sazio (SN) as he defeated Bill Martin of the same fraternity.

The intramural system provided entertainment, sportsmanship and team spirit for all who participated in and witnessed the various events.

Intramural basketball action

The volley ball championship went to Lambda Chi Alpha as they defeated the independent champs of Old Dominion.

With the autumn sports coming to a close, the fraternity race began to show its gaps. SAE was now leading the field by a considerable margin and it looked as though they had the trophy bagged.

PiKA dwindled the margin with a victory in bowling, and with basketball approaching. SN had very good chances of overtaking the lead, SN had dominated this sport for the last four years and they had a winning streak of over thirty games in that field.

As expected, the basketball season started with SN defeating all comers, Also undefeated was Kappa Alpha and the foresight was that the meeting of these two teams would decide the championship.

The game was played rough and hard by both teams and finally KA ended SN's consecutive streak at thirty-nine games.

The independent league remained a battle down to the last game with the Red Shirts, Ting-a-Lings and Vets all scram-

WOMEN'S ATHLETICS

Beginning early in the Fall with the Freshman Orientation picnic, the Women's Athletic Association provided a full year of fun and exercise for the women students. Starting off the year with a picnic for incoming women had been a regular practice previously, but this year a change was made in the format. After a brief talk on the structure of the organization, the girls dispersed into groups headed by student managers of the various sports offered in the intramural and varsity programs. Following the informal discussions everyone adjourned to the shelter for a delicious supper of barbecue with all the trimmings.

Varsity teams toured the country for away games, travelling to Pennsylvania and other neighboring states. Even though team members may not always have developed into expert players by the end of the season, they certainly became quite proficient in their singing, for someone always seemed to have a guitar or ukelele, and singing was as much a part of their trips as running up and down a field or court.

Intramural teams worked hard for their individual victories this year, as each dorm and sorority spurred their teams on with cheers and thoughts of an eventual trophy. Laughs were many, however, and the game provided a welcome relief from the books, as a record number of women took part in the numerous activities offered throughout the year.

Each of the members of the varsity and intramural teams, as well as all the other women in the College, were included in the membership of the WAA from the moment they arrived on the campus. Since there has to be some sort of ruling body, however, the Joint Committee, composed of faculty and student members, was the last word in decisions on financial matters, as well as countless other problems.

WARY LOU RIGGAN

President, WAA

Other than having faculty members on the Joint Committee, students ran the rest of the WAA affairs. Headed by Mary Lou Riggan, President, the organization functioned smoothly throughout the year. Mary Lou could be found consulting with students and faculty alike, to promote activities and good will. Easy-going and capable, her coworkers found great pleasure in working with her.

While Mary Lou kept busy with all the formalities entailed in her job. Brenda Korns was also kept on the run, recording both the team and individual points, a technical and exacting job. Bobbie Limont, as secretary, had her hands full of numerous other details such as writing letters, keeping minutes and handling anything that was asked of her. When she left at semesters, everyone was sorry to lose such a capable worker, but wished her the greatest happiness in the world.

The responsibility of seeing that intramural affairs were properly handled fell to Helen Noble. Student Head of Intramurals. During the year, she spent her time conferring on schedules, equipment and endless reports. Assisting her were representatives of each dorm and sorority who had the duties of seeing that their particular teams were kept informed of the latest intramural news, organizing those teams and checking to see that they fulfilled all the requirements concerning practices and elegibility of members.

While Mary Lou conducted meetings of the Managers Board, composed of the student managers of varsity and intramural sports, as well as chairmen of committees involved in the running of the WAA, Pat Culpepper quietly took attendance and kept minutes. Outside of the meetings. Pat. Secretary of the Managers Board, always seemed to have postcards to send, letters to write and an endless number of things to be done. Efficient Pat faithfully fulfilled all her duties unobtrusivey and conscienciously.

Plagued by numerous adversities such as illness and weather, the varsity hockey squad suffered losses at the hands of most of its opponents. The results, however, do not always tell the entire story. A 3-3 tie in the game with the Williamsburg Chib and a one point defeat by Longwood College were but two heartbreakingly close instances.

Returning this year were several veteran players, five of whom will be missing next Fall. Sally Dahm, Barbara Brown and June Shearer were lost through graduation, and Bobbie Limont and Gwen Luce left school.

The other veterans were Harriett Ripple. Sue Pope. Sue Whaley. Dodie Diggs. Brenda Korns and Dolores Mannion. Newcomers who will return in the Fall are Nancy Romweber. Pat Clark and Ginny Wachob. Dolores served not only as a player, but also as student manager, while Kathy Hamilton and Alice Matthews managed the junior varsity. These girls helped with arrangements for games which included opponents such as Richmond Club, Notre Dame, Beaver College, Norfolk Division, Sweet Briar and the Little Colonels.

Late in the season, the team traveled to Richmond to take part in the State Hockey Tournament. While there, Ginny Wachob, squaw halfback, was chosen for the All-State Second Team.

Captained by Mary Lou Riggan and Jan Charbonnet, the basketball team came out on the low side of the won-lost record, although many of the girls were new to the squad this year, Working for wins with a lack of experienced players. Miss Martha Barksdale, coach for the team, had the girls practicing long and hard during the weeks of the basketball season. Again, illness seemed to hit the team just when the services of the experienced players was needed.

Those veterans who saw the most action were Mary Lou and Jan, as well as Carol Kent, Carol Simmerman, Jane Woods and Ginny Lipps. Several freshmen were selected in the Fall and will fill the holes left by graduating seniors. Sally Applegate, Lucy Chrisman, Sue Davis, Irene Ernst, Mary Ann Joyce, Roxanne Kieffer, Betty Ann Senic, Melissa Smith, Judy White and Carolyn Meachum gave of their talents during the year and will help comprise a more experienced team for the future.

Another team suffering from inexperience was the fencing squad. Connie Wait, the manager, was the only experienced fencer when the team was formed, so Coach Marion Reeder worked on the basis of merely gaining experience, although the girls turned in good performances in the tri-meet with Madison and Mary Washington. Other opponents were Goucher College, Tri-Weapon Club and International Center. Besides the matches, there were exhibitions given by experts.

one having been given in Jefferson Gym by Dr. Sancetta and Shirley Alger.

Tennis matches took Jean Wyckoff. Jan Charbonnet. Nancy Oakes and Margot Ketcham, as well as other members of the squad, to all parts of the state and surrounding territory. Playing hard and well, the girls found that the matches offered as much fun as competition.

Lacrosse came again to our fair campus as one of the most popular sports of the year. Those who had never played before were anxious to learn, and those who were veterans at the comparatively new sport were anxious to teach. Sally Dahm. Barbara Brown. Brenda Korns. Pat Culpepper. Sally Baker. Mary Talmage and Carol Kent were but a few of the girls who participated on the team.

ORCHESIS

The focal point for Orchesis was the annual Spring Concert, which was presented this year on March 17 and 18. The concert ran the gamut of dance from the light to serious numbers. On the serious side, Julie Mudge and Miss Edmundson choreographed a religious suite, around the Lord's Prayer. Also in the serious vein was Michey Mighell's choreography based on a quotation of Thoreau's, "Every man hears his own drumbeat." On the light side. Dottie Guthrie's interpretation of the villian-heroine melodrama was quite amusing. In this same light tone was Lou Biggs' "Virginia Suite" which captured in dance the personification of three Virginia Cities.

One of the highlights of the year was the Master Class and Demonstration given to the club by Harriet Anne Grey and Company. Miss Gray captivated the members of Orchesis, and she left in her wake increased enthusiasm and admiration for dance as an art form.

MERMETTES

Mermettes, an organization founded to promote interest in swimming at the college especially among the women students. The Water Show presented each spring is one of the highlights of all campus activities. After tryouts in the fall, promising aqua stars are chosen from among both men and women students. Practice in synchronized swimming and water ballet was gained while putting the new show together. In March, the show was given, its theme being a "Travelogue of the World." Various cities were represented in the water ballet and ingenious lighting and props added to the effect of a real extravagnaza. Paris. New York, Moscow, all came alive as the gorgeously costumed mermaids glided through the waters of Blow Gymnasium pool. All agreed that the show was an immense success. Mermettes not only presented the annual Water Show, but promoted interest in synchronized swimming by giving its members practice and its audience an astounding show.

Barrett's stalwarts

Inaugurating a new system this year, only three teams from each dorm and sorority were permitted to enter any one intramural tournament. In the Spring, cups were presented to three different groups in each of the three leagues rather than to one group for the over-all total. Helen Noble, Student Head of Intramurals together with Miss Lowndes Scott, the faculty consultant, supervised the entire program.

Opening early in the year was an old favorite, hockey. Jefferson copped one of its many first places, followed by Barrett in second place and Chandler in third. With Gail Hewson handling the arrangements pertaining to this sport, games were run off smoothly, and only three forfeits occurred.

Swimming, which is generally held at a bad time for most women, was in no different a situation this year. Although there were numerous students wishing to take part in swimming intramurals, exams and rushing took their usual tolls. A fairly successful meet was held, however, as spectators cheered their teams on.

In the first team league. Ludwell Green placed first, with Tri Delt in second and Kappa in third. The second team races were equally as exciting, and saw Theta emerge as victor, followed by Jefferson and Tri Delt. Theta again copped first place honors in the third team races, with Pi Phi and Tri Delt taking second and third places, respectively.

Hampered only by the usual large amount of Williamsburg dew, the tennis intramural teams slammed their way through a series of thrilling and well played matches. First team league winner was Kappa, as Chandler and Gamma Phi came in second and third. Chi Omega swept the first place spots in both second and third team competition. Kappa and Gamma Phi were runners-up in the second team race, and Barrett took second place in third team matches, with Gamma Phi and Pi Phi tied for third place.

Played on a double elimination basis, the basketball tournament drew many groups, but team spirit and cooperative playing worked together to give Jefferson the top honors in both first and second team leagues. By defeating Theta in the finals, the Jefferson squad was assured first place in the first team league, leaving Theta in second place and Chandler in third. Gamma Phi was the second place team in the second team contest.

One day out of January, February and March was devoted to the bowling tournament in which the scores were sent to the National Bowling Tournament. Although several girls competed all three times, those who entered only once were not entirely out of the running for awards, for the WAA reimbursed the top ten scorers.

Volleyball came into the spotlight early in the second semester under the direction of Jean Woodfield. Soon after that, fencing matches were held, with Connie Wait, student manager, encouraging girls to try their skills in the art of handling an epee. Badminton was another of the handy indoor sports which tided the women through the rainy season, and several of the Fall tennis players wielded badminton raquets during the Spring.

The ping pong tournament, supervised by Anne Gilbert, proved to be an enjoyable way of acquiring intramural points. Archery and softball occupied, along with a few other things, the minds of the females during the Spring. Barbara Massey, as usual, showed up well in the archery meets, and Pat Culpepper also did a great deal to enhance her intramural point record. Sue Whaley took charge of getting sofball teams together, planning their practice sessions and scheduling their games.
